

The 5th Annual

Amber Buckley-Shaklee Sociology Conference

19-20 April 2019

Studying globalization as crisis through networks of derivatives, bubbles, and bankruptcies

Keynote Address

Michael Goldman

University of Minnesota

Friday, April 19th // 3:00 pm
Lincoln Hall // Room 1002

Professor Michael Goldman holds appointments in Sociology and Global Studies at the University of Minnesota and is the V.K.R.V Rao Chair professor at the Institute for Social and Economic Change in Bangalore, India. His works have appeared in outlets such as the International Journal of Urban and Regional Research, Urban Studies, the Annual Review of Sociology, and Geoforum, along with several books, including Imperial Nature: The World Bank and Struggles for Social Justice in the Age of Globalization and he is currently editing Cornell University's books series – "New Perspectives in Territory, Development, and Environment."

Student Presentations

Saturday April 20th // 9:30 am -4:30 pm
Lincoln Hall // Room 3111

Y Students from all social science related perspectives are welcome to attend and present at the conference. Students who wish to present at the conference can send their abstracts of 200-500 words to gsacillinois@gmail.com by March 15, 2019. Student presentations should last about 12 minutes and will be part of thematic panels that will be determined after submission. We would appreciate if anyone wishing to attend the conference could RSVP to this same email. Finally, we will have a small social hour(s) for students that would like to discuss their research and ideas in a more casual atmosphere on the evening of Saturday, April 20th. If interested, we please reply to the aforementioned email and we will reply with details.

